

CURRICULUM VITAE OF GABRIEL DOMINICUS WENDLER

Mr Wendler's practice is predominately at the Criminal Bar specialising in defence trial and appellate advocacy. Mr Wendler's practice extends to the area of constitutional law. Historically he has appeared in a number of Commonwealth indictable criminal law matters that have had a constitutional law dimension. He is regularly retained in significant criminal law matters before the Supreme and District Courts of New South Wales. He also appears frequently before the superior courts of other States and Territories of Australia. He has significant experience before Courts of Criminal Appeal in Australia and the High Court of Australia. He has also appeared internationally i.e. in a major narcotics importation trial before the High Court of New Zealand sitting in Auckland and before the High Court of Fiji in a sedition trial arising out of the 2000 coup in Fiji.

Mr Wendler was admitted to the Bar of South Australia in 1982 before being admitted to the New South Wales Bar in 1988. He is also admitted to the Bars of Victoria, Queensland, Tasmania, the ACT and the Northern Territory. Internationally he is admitted to the New Zealand Bar.

Mr Wendler is a member of the Legal Aid New South Wales specialist barristers' panel for complex criminal law matters and the specialist panel for criminal appellate matters. Mr Wendler is also a past appointed member of the Criminal Law Committee of the NSW Bar Association. Mr Wendler is currently completing the degree PhD in constitutional law.
